A BRIEF HISTORY

OF THE

DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL AND BARBARA MILLER.

EXPLANATION.

FIRST—Pay no attention to pages—use numbers instead.

The small letter b. stands for born.

d. for died.

s. for single.

A capital B. means that the person referred to is a member of the Brethren church.

Samuel Miller was a son of Daniel Miller. Daniel Miller was born May 13, 1752. His father's name was Lewis Miller. Lewis Miller was the father of fourteen children—nine sons and five daughters. Daniel Miller was married to Barbara Long April 4, 1780.

Barbara Long was born March 6, 1757. This union was blessed with seven sons and two daughters.

Samuel Miller, the subject of this sketch, was born in Rockingham county, Va., Dec. 17, 1793. He grew to manhood in the same county in which he was born, and on March 19, 1816, was married to Barbara Sanger. Barbara Sanger was a daughter of Conrad Sanger. He was twice married, and was the father of thirteen children, eleven of them living to reach manhood and womanhood. Barbara, our esteemed grandmother, was born in Lancaster county, Pa., Aug. 27, 1791. She was the only one that lived of a set of triplets, the other two having died at time of birth, and she was so small that she could be placed in a quart cup and the hand placed on top of the cup, but she grew to be a large, portly woman, weighing over two hundred pounds. She, with her parents, moved from Lancaster county, Pa., to Rockingham county, Va., in the year 1813, and settled on a farm about six miles south of Harrisonburg, where she became acquainted with the young man to whom she was married three years later. Also three of Barbara's sisters married three of Samuel Miller's brothers. After Samuel and Barbara were married, they settled on a farm about two miles southwest of Harrisonburg, Va., along what is known as the Warm Springs pike. They were both members of the Brethren church. Their family consisted of three sons, as follows:

Daniel, b. Feb. 18, 1817. No. 1.

John B., b. April 27, 1818. No. 2.

Martin, b. Jan. 9, 1825. No. 3.

They continued to reside on the above mentioned farm until the fall of 1839, when they, with their entire family, moved to Allen county, Ohio, and settled on the farm now occupied by Samuel R. Jacobs, where they lived until the time of their death, which came to the husband on Sept. 7, 1861, at the age of 67 years, 8 months and 20 days. He was buried in the old Miller cemetery, one mile east of the Sugar Creek church. His devoted wife continued to live at the old homestead, with the second son, John B., until the death summons came to her, on May 9, 1875, at the age of 83 years, 9 months and 12 days, and she was buried by the side of her faithful husband. This ends the earthly career of two persons, who should ever be held in high esteem by all of their descendants, for the privations which they had to undergo and the hard, incessant labor necessary to convert the wilds of a new country into the beautiful and productive farming lands now enjoyed by many of their descendants. Above all, should we hold them in high esteem for the pious, Christian example which they have left us. Let us each earnestly endeavor to live such lives that when our life work is ended we can strike glad hands with, not only grandfather and grandmother, but also with our fathers and mothers, in the great and grand reunion around the dazzling throne in the sweet by and by.

1875

No. 1. FIRST GENERATION.

Daniel Miller, eldest son of Samuel and Barbara Miller, was born in Rockingham county, Va., Feb. 18, 1817. He grew to manhood on the same farm where he was born. His school privileges were what the district school afforded, in the winter season only, and then not the full term, for in his school days the grain had to be threshed by tramping with horses, this being always left for the winter work, and as Daniel was the oldest of his father's family, it fell to his lot to lead or ride the horses on the barn floor until the threshing was done, before he could start to school. Well do I remember of hearing him say that the last term of school he attended he went thirty-one days, and that was the best chance he had ever had. In the summer and autumn of 1838, when a young man of twenty-one, he, in company with several other young men of his community, Elder Daniel Brower being one of the party, started for Ohio on horseback, coming first to Fairfield county, where were living some of their relatives and friends, and from there they came to Allen county, and passed through Lima when it was only a small village. After they had viewed the country in different parts of Allen county to their satisfaction, they returned to Fairfield county, where Daniel's horse took sick and was unable to travel further. The other members of the party desiring to return home, Daniel was obliged to stay behind, but as his disposition all through life was never to allow time to pass unimproved, and having been offered a position as teacher in the district school where he was stopping, he procured a set of the text books then in use, applied himself to study for three weeks, then attended the county examination and received one of the best teacher's certificates given by the county board that year. He then accepted the position offered and taught the winter term of school. His horse having regained its health by this time, he again mounted for the return trip home, arriving safely in due time.

On July 18, 1839, he was united in marriage with Mary A. Leedy, of Rockingham county, Va. His father, having a chance at this time to sell his farm, closed the bargain, made sale of his personal effects, and the entire family started for Allen county, Ohio, where Daniel and his young wife settled on a farm on the banks of Sugar Creek, about three and one-half miles northeast of Lima, where he engaged in farming and getting out building stone, which were easily obtained in the creek bottoms. He also built a saw mill and grist mill, which he operated during the greater part of his life. Daniel and his wife were both members of the Brethren church. He served the church as elder for a number of years. Daniel and Mary Miller were the parents of seven sons and five daughters, as follows:

Daniel and his wife continued to live on the farm where they first settled until their death, which came to the wife on Dec. 23, 1872. She was laid to rest in the cemetery at the northeast corner of their farm. Daniel was again married, to Anna Miller, with whom he lived until his death, which occurred on May 19, 1879, at the age of 62 years, 1 month and 1 day. He was buried by the side of his first wife.
